DAVIDSON'S FIRST VETO RECEIVED

Brewery Bills Killed In Committee—Two Advanced For Consideration Of The Legislature—Labor Unions Bills' Fate.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 23.—In addition to wrangling over the alleged injustice of holding Saturday sessions, keeping some members from going home for Sunday and allowing others to make this an excuse and stay away, the assembly today worked through a long calendar.

First Veto
Gov. Davidson's first veto came in today, killing the bill to allow the city of Elkhorn to remove a cemetery, the reason for the veto being that it was special legislation and therefore unconstitutional.

Brewery Bills
Several excise bills obnoxious to the brewery interests were reported by the state affairs committee, for killing, but two were reported for passage. One bill was to reach "blind piggers" by making the possession of a government liquor license evidence of selling liquor.

Dispensary Law
The other is to allow the cities to adopt the Gottengburg dispensary system. The latter bill would allow a city to give one saloon a monopoly of the liquor business in the place.

Labor Unions
Two union labor bills were re-referred after protests from the social democrats to establish an eight-hour day on all public work and to permit picketing by strikers.

One bill of social democratic origin was advanced, to prohibit the employment of children in theatres or music halls.

SCENTS A PLAN TO MURDER MRS. JOHN BELL OF BELOIT

Mysterious Telegrams Announcing Husband's Death, Thought To Have Been A Lure.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, Wis., March 23.—What appears to have been a plot to lure Mrs. John Bell from her son-in-law's home in this city to Rockford that she might be killed by her husband was discovered this morning when a telegram announcing the serious illness of her husband in Rockford and signed by Mrs. Shanhouse was received and followed by a second announcing his death from poison. The Rockford police were notified and found Bell alive and that he had sent both dispatches with an idea of bringing his wife to Rockford. He was placed under arrest. Mr. and Mrs. Bell's daughter, Mrs. Monahan, was burned to death Wednesday and Bell at the time of the funeral made threats to kill his wife from whom he had been separated for some time and was sent out of town by the police before the funeral. Bell is black and his wife is white. They have been separated for some months and Mrs. Bell made her home with her daughter. Bell was not permitted to come to Beloit by the police but received permission to attend the funeral at which time he made threats and was sent back to Rockford.

ONE MORE SIGN OF SPRING'S ARRIVAL

Eastern Racing Season Will Open
Monday With Initial Meet at Washington Club.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., March 23.—The Eastern racing season will be in full blast Monday with the opening of the Washington Jockey club meeting at the Benning course. All indications point to the largest meet in the history of that popular track. Several hundred high-class horses are now stabled at the track, including strings owned by August Belmont, Andrew Miller, Perry Belmont, Henry T. Oxford, John E. Madden, and F. R. Hitchcock. The demand for stable room is so great that some of the late comers have been obliged to find accommodations outside the enclosure. Season campaigners from the winter tracks will wind up their work by racing the fresher horses that did not have the hard season in the south and west and honors between the two classes should be about even.

COLLEGE BASEBALL SEASONS IN NORTH AND SOUTH OPENED

Big Eastern Teams Lined Up For Initial Games—Many Contests
In South.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, March 23.—College baseball players go to bat today. Several of the big Eastern college teams line up for the first real games of the season after several weeks devoted to cage practice. In accordance with their custom a number of them have gone South to play their opening games. Thus Cornell plays George Washington University at Washington and Lafayette lines up against Trinity at Durham, N. C. Yale starts off by playing New York University on the home field. Harvard and other of the big colleges will not make their debut on the diamond until a week hence. Most of the Eastern colleges have confident ideas as to the prospects for the season. The fear most entertained is on the score of the pitching staffs. Except in one or two institutions the twirlers are not the same men who did the work last year and the lack of seasoned men in the boxes is troubling the coaches. The only unusual feature in the schedules of the Eastern colleges is the Western trip that Williams will make to meet the teams of Chicago, Michigan and Illinois universities.

Southern Team Coming North.
Atlanta, Ga., March 23.—The college baseball season in the South begins in earnest today. Davidson plays Catawba College at Davidson, the Presbyterian College of South Carolina meets Clatsop College at Clinton, and Wake Forest and North Carolina meet on the diamond with Wake Forest. Further north the Annapolis cadets open their season with St. John's College. Georgetown plays the Maryland Agricultural College and George Washington University opens at home with Cornell. A feature of this season will be the trip North of the University of Alabama team, champions of the Far South for five years. These players will meet several New England teams about commencement time.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., March 23.—Secretary Taft and his party are here ready to embark on the cruiser, Columbia which will convey them to Panama. Accompanying Secretary Taft are Senator Kittredge of South Dakota, the new head of the senate canal committee, and Representatives Burton of Ohio and De Armond of Missouri of the House canal committee, and F. W. Carpenter, private secretary to Secretary Taft. Also members of the party are three distinguished civilian engineers, who are going to the isthmus by request of the President on a special mission. They are Alfred Nobel of the Pennsylvania railroad, Frederick Stearns, the engineer of the Wachusett dam in Massachusetts, and John R. Freeman of Providence, an eminent authority on dams. The chief work of the engineers is to be the examination of the test pits dug on the site of the projected locks at Gatun, thereby giving Secretary Taft, the benefit of their expert opinions in regard to the possibility of building a suitable foundation for the locks. After Secretary Taft completes his business on the isthmus he will go to Cuba and Porto Rico in order personally to study conditions in those islands with a view to making a special report for the guidance of the President. He expects to be back in Washington in about a month.

PHYSICIAN MUST DIE FOR THREE HORRIBLE MURDERS

Dayton, Ohio, Man Found Guilty Of Having Poisoned Father, Mother And Brother,
And Burned Bodies.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Columbus, O., March 23.—Found guilty and sentenced to death for the horrible murder of his aged father, mother and brother and denounced as a "criminal whose cunning and fiendish desires have seldom been equalled in this country," Dr. Oliver Crook Haugh, a man of good family and education, is awaiting death in the electric chair two weeks hence. The supreme court has just affirmed the sentence of Dr. Haugh, who has been an inmate of the penitentiary annex for nearly a year.

Dr. Haugh was a resident of Dayton. In his early career he was highly respected and looked upon as a talented physician. But four or five years ago tales began to circulate regarding uncanny experiments with drugs being carried on in the laboratory of Dr. Haugh. In a short while it became known that the young physician himself had become a drug fiend of the worst type. Metamorphosis was wrought in the individuality of the man by the excessive use of morphine, cocaine and opium. He became haggard, wild, demoralized. Several times he disappeared from his home. It was later asserted that the mysterious murders of women in the outskirts of Cincinnati, so closely resembling the Whitechapel crimes of London, were coincident with some of these disappearances. Nothing was ever brought to light, however, to substantiate the suspicion that Dr. Haugh was connected with these crimes.

On November 5, 1905, came the triple tragedy for which the young physician seems doomed to die in the electric chair. The old family home at Vandalia, near Dayton, where the physician had gone to spend the night with relatives, was burned. In the ruins were found the bodies of Haugh's father, his mother, and his brother, Jesse Haugh. All had been mutilated. It was charged that the bodies had been saturated with kerosene in order to aid the work of obliteration.

The authorities charged Dr. Haugh with the murders, asserting that he had set fire to the house in order to conceal his crime. Physicians asserted that the victims had been poisoned before being burned. Of the inmates of the house on the fatal night, Dr. Haugh alone escaped. The motive alleged for the crime was personal gain. Dr. Haugh, it was asserted, had spent all his money and was no longer able to purchase the drugs which he craved with an appetite that brooked no denial. Several days before the crime, Dr. Haugh received from a Cleveland drug house enough hyocine to kill a dozen men. It was the opinion of the prosecution that this poison was administered to his victims until they lost consciousness, after which he piled their bodies into a heap, saturated them with oil and set them afire. They were entirely consumed by the flames, which completely destroyed the house. The testimony of several neighbors who arrived early on the scene, added in the conviction of the physician. Reliable witnesses swore that the odor of oil was distinctly noticeable in the early stages of the fire and that the bodies of the father, mother and brother were fully dressed when they vainly tried to rescue them from the flames.

In his defense, Haugh declared that, finding the house in flames, he attempted to gain entrance to his parents' room, but was driven back by fire and smoke. Then, his underclothing caught fire, and he declared that he had been badly burned. But the physicians of the hospital, where he applied for relief, could find neither burn nor scratch upon his body.

The evidence against Haugh was conclusive and the defense, after the conviction, set forth the claim that the prisoner was insane. Haugh played his part well, and for weeks acted as one entirely bereft of reason. Experts were set to watch him by the state, and he was caught of his guard on several occasions. After a long trial he was adjudged sane. During his long imprisonment in the penitentiary here, while his case was carried to the higher courts, Haugh continually improved in health and appearance. From a haggard, repulsive looking man, as he appeared when brought here from Dayton, he changed into a man of refined, and even handsome appearance. He has passed much of his time in reading and study and has taken little part in the card playing and other amusements of the dozen other prisoners awaiting execution or the commutation of their sentences.

Dr. Haugh is married and the father of two children. His father was a highly respected resident of Montgomery county, the owner of a fine farm on the outskirts of Dayton and a prosperous wagon and buggy factory in the city. Dr. Haugh is now 36 years old. He was granted a certificate to practice medicine in Ohio in May, 1896, and was located for a time in Springfield before coming to Dayton.

DELMAS DEFENDS CLIENT'S REPUTATION AS TO SANITY

Thaw's Attorney Files His Statement As To Condition Of His Mind At Present.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, March 23.—The affidavits of the defense of Harry K. Thaw as to his mental condition and whether or not a commission in lunacy should be appointed to examine him were filed at noon today with the clerk of the supreme court. There were eight affidavits, of which that of Delphin M. Delmas, Thaw's counsel, was the first. Delmas declares it as his opinion that Thaw has been and is capable of understanding the nature and object of the proceedings going on against him, of comprehending his own condition in reference to such proceedings, of conducting his own defense in a rational manner; that, during the whole trial, he has understood the nature and object of such proceedings, has comprehended his own condition in reference thereto, has conducted his defense in a rational manner. This opinion the affidavit says is based upon professional relations Delmas has had with the prisoner since the beginning of the trial, and many communications he had sent and received from him. Eighteen letters, received by Delmas from Thaw during the trial, and several slips of paper containing suggestions with reference to the conduct of the proceedings, actually going on which were handed him by the defendant in the court room, are made part of the affidavit.

Mrs. William Thaw, in an affidavit filed today, denies in direct line of descent for four generations there have been any taint of insanity or epilepsy in the family of Harry Thaw. She denounces what she terms "mailicious misrepresentation" and "gross exaggeration" on this subject. She denies the "brutal" assertion that Henry V. Copley was "an imbecile from birth," but that two vicious boys frightened the lad when six years of age, with horrible masks, into a state of terror and he ever after was of feeble intellect.

LECTURES LAWYER WHEN HE SMILES AT THE JURY

Judge Clementson Makes Bitter Rebuke To Attorney Charles McGee In Mil-

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., March 23.—Circuit Judge Clementson of Lancaster, Wis., sitting in the trial of John Johnson for the murder of Patrick Doyle during a quarrel, this afternoon scored Attorney Chas. McGee, recently a candidate for attorney general, for smiling at the jury when it came back after twenty-four hours' fruitless sitting for instructions. McGee is the attorney for the defense and was called down by the judge, who smashed his first on the table. The judge then told the jury there was no element of self defense in the case as McGee has claimed. The result of the sensation is in doubt.

SEVERAL HUNDRED SAW "THE HAM TREE"

McIntyre and Heath Are Immense—The Rest of the Production Is Rather Tame.

Alexander Hamilton (doubtful-ly): "Ham trees in New Hampshire, a Schwartz cheese-swamp in river of beer. (With sudden interest) How tall you say those ham-trees grow? (Querulously) I told you right there I didn't perspire to have a regular actor. (Fleecingly) Doan call me dactor, no mo'—call me by my lively-stable name, Alexander! (Reflectively) For three days you had me eat with a fork—Dat's a trade I learnt I'll never practice."

Henry Jones (accusingly and in feigned astonishment): "Ugh! I wouldn't believe it! You got egg on yo' chin!"

Hamiltonian: "If I have it's been there ever since I left home."

Not since the "In Dahomey" colloquies of the trustful, stolid Bert Williams and the oily manipulator, George Walker, has there been essayed on the local stage a more full and convincing delineation of the colored man's peculiar foibles, mental states, and inclinations, than that given by James McIntyre and T. K. Heath last evening. "Jones" in the days of his prosperity, patronizing the poor "Alexander," encouraging him in the belief that he is a colored Nat Goodwin by going into spasms of laughter at the narration of ancient gags culled from the almanac, and painting in vivid colors the splendor and luxury of life on the road; "Jones" hungry and disconsolate in the wilderness, conjuring with his fancy until one actually catches the aroma of baked ham and corn pone; and "Hamiltonian," but a hair-deceived, wary, never yielding without a struggle, and invariably a victim in the end of Jones' hypnotic suggestions and vagaries: it is really too bad that the drama-conventional rajah nonsense had to be tacked onto this deliciously human and humorous contribution. McIntyre is a master of the dialect and expression. The swiftly shifting moods of his character include everything but enthusiasm. He never smiles, but the audience finds a laugh in every sigh and gesture and reproachful word.

There remains but a little more to be said about "The Ham Tree" performance at the Myers theatre last evening. There was a big, well drilled, and beautifully costumed chorus, but comely faces were few and far apart. The singing was hardly up to expectation. "Miss Belle Gold" was the only individual vocalist among the women and her singing and dancing was much better than her music. Frederick Bowers was the only individual male vocalist. His "Sweet hearts in Every Town" was good. Rude people might say that maybe the "Illustrations" looked their respective parts. "The Good Bye, Sweet Old Manhattan Isle," while less appealing than "Dear Old Chicago Town" and "Give My Regards to Broadway," made a pleasing impression.

W. C. Fields as "the mystery" proved to be a juggler of unusual skill as well as a god actor. Jeanne Fowler, an emotional actress of some ability who was seen here on Jan. 4, 1906, in Pinero's "problem play," has the absurd, thoughtless and unprofitable role of the socially ambitious "Mrs. Nickelbacker." There has to be an English duke, of course, and David Torrence, a big man who ought to be doing things better worth while, makes the most of the silly assignment. A large audience greeted the performance, front-row seats being occupied by a number of U. of W. students from Madison.

Nursing Mothers and

Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. "Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting the health of their infants for the child." Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless aid to prepare the system for baby's coming and rendering the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system.

"Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, back-ache, dragging-down distress low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary specks or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable, or even catarrhal, drain, prostrating, nervous or retroversion of the uterus, or displacement of womanly organs from weakness of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

This world-famous specific for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest natural medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

CONFLAGRATION IN IRONTON.

Flames Destroy Lumber Plant and Several Fine Homes.

Ironton, Ohio, March 23.—One of the most disastrous fires in years visited Ironton Friday causing a loss of nearly $100,000 and leaving several prominent families homeless for the time being.

The fire broke out in the plant of the Ironton Lumber company at noon, and when discovered the whole plant was in a blaze. It was completely destroyed, causing a loss of at least $40,000, but the great piles of lumber adjoining were saved.

Within ten minutes of the time that the fire alarm was sounded for the lumber mill fire, another alarm was turned in from Fifth street, five blocks back of the mill, where a frame stable was in flames, having caught from the blazing flakes of rubberoid roofing, carried by a high wind which was raging at the time. Almost immediately several residences caught fire, and those of W. P. Lewis, Fred Henschell, H. H. Campbell, Mat Anderson, John B. Stroebel, and Leonard Hoffman were destroyed.

Restricts Eight-Hour Day Application. Washington, March 23.—Secretary Taft has reconsidered his original opinion of March 7 relative to the eight-hour law in its application to employees on river and harbor works. Then he held that the law applied to every person connected with the work on dredges and steamers of various kinds, while now he is of the opinion that it affects only mechanics and laborers and does not change the present hours of work of captains, cooks, deckhands, pilots and the like.

Benefit of Books. Books are "companions and acquaintances to be had at all times and under all circumstances," says a wise writer. "They are never out when you knock at the door, are never 'not at home' when you call. In the lightest as well as the deepest moods they may be applied to and will never be found wanting."

Potting Hints. A pot that has done duty previously should be scrubbed inside as well as out before using it a second time. Dirty pots often prove injurious to the plants placed in them. They may contain an injurious disease.

DETAILED BY TRAIN WRECKER.

Statement of Pennsylvania Officials as to Accident to Limited.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 23.—A committee representing the Pennsylvania railroad which has been investigating the cause of the derailment of the Chicago limited Friday at Stewart, Pa., near here, after taking the testimony of the train crew and the crews which passed the point of derailment previous to the accident, authorize the following statement:

"The wreck was caused by some person or persons removing the bolts and the plates joining two rails and turning one of them inward so as to throw the train off the track. The work was evidently that of one with a knowledge of tracks and signals as the 'bond wire' which completes the electric signal circuit was carefully kept intact, thereby causing the signals to show 'safe' instead of 'danger' as they would have shown had this contact been broken."

"The tools found near the scene of the accident were such as are used in laying track, but were not the standard tools used by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, nor were they the property of the company. The place selected for the derailment seems to have been chosen with a view of throwing the train off the track and at the same time guarding, as far as possible, against the loss of life, as the point where the train ran off the track is one of the few on the Pittsburg division where there is no embankment over which the train could plunge. The rails were disconnected between the time of 2:44 o'clock and 3:52, giving but an hour and eight minutes in which that work was done."

No One-Cent Rate For G. A. R. Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—T. C. Donald, commissioner of the Central Passenger association, notified the state department officials of the G. A. R. Friday that the usual one-cent rate for the state encampment at Wayne this year will not be granted on account of the two-cent fare law which will go into effect in April.

C. D. Bachtel Acquitted. Lisbon, Ohio, March 23.—Corwin D. Bachtel, former cashier of the Canton State bank, was acquitted Friday by a jury. He was accused of padding the individual accounts of the bank and submitting a false report to the auditor of state.

Last Russians Out of Manchuria. St. Petersburg, March 23.—The Russian evacuation of Manchuria is complete. The last battalion of Russian troops left Harbin on Thursday.

Encouragement Does Much. No man ever did a work in spite of persecution that he might not have done 10,000 times better if he had been encouraged. — John Oliver Robbins.

Have Claw on Wing. Some birds while young have a claw on the wing which is used by the bird not as a weapon, but as an assistance in dragging itself along, after the manner of a bat. The railinies are an example of birds having such claws while young, the structure being lost before the birds reach maturity.

Moving Pictures That Talk. The "chronomograph" is the scientific name given to a new apparatus invented by M. Leon Gaumont, of Paris. A moving picture is thrown on a screen, and as the figures move the chronomograph "gives" them a speech. We thus get a combination of cinematograph and phonograph.

Nothing New. "Yes," said Josh Hardacre, "I guess they done things in Bible times about the same's they're done now. Least ways they must of had courts in them days, 'er I've just been readin' a scriptural injunction."

Northwestern Editorial Courtesy. "We do not know what the Lord lets some people get hold of a newspaper for, anyway," is the way the Salem Capital-Post puts it. "And we have often thought the same thing, only in larger type, when reading and trying to understand the mauling in 'rot in double-column' doses 'of the Capital-Post—Irrigon (Ore.) Irrigator."

WHERE QUALITY COUNTS MOST

Our show rooms are now filled with beautiful monuments which have been sold in the past few days in Janesville and outside towns. Some of the very big jobs were sold to Mrs. A. Meyer, Janesville; S. C. Chambers, Milton Junction; Frank Jones, Milton Junction; W. W. Douglas, Brodhead; Mrs. H. Evenson of Edgerton, and hundreds of smaller orders.

A larger quantity of fine granite has never before been shown under one roof in Wisconsin.

The fact that we make all our purchases in car lots, places us in a position to secure the very lowest prices and enables us to market our product at a figure impossible for dealers buying in less quantity. Four car loads of orders will be shipped from our shops to all parts of Southern Wisconsin within a few weeks.

With our new Pneumatic Tool Plant which is little short of wonderful in its operation, the sunk or raised letters in monument marking are brought out clearly and in much less time than the old way of working by hand. Then too there is no variation in the stroke of the hammer, as the automatic tool does its work uniformly at all times. With this new Compressed Air Cutter which is the only one of its kind in Southern Wisconsin, we can turn out better work and sell cheaper than any other concern in this part of the country.

Mr. Sandaway, our expert monument cutter, will be pleased to demonstrate its work to visitors any time and you are especially invited to call.

We are also agents for Iron Fences.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST
Showers, with possibly, thunder squalls, warmer tonight and Sunday, generally fair and warmer.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

That black mound, on the edge of the marsh, looks like a Lake Kosh-kongong muskrat house; but it isn't. It is an alligator's nest, and under it is a well, two or three feet deep, and about the same width, extending back some 20 feet into the bank.

On this nest the mother alligator deposits her eggs, a dozen or more, and about the size of turkey's eggs. When they hatch out the little reptiles tumble off into the well, where they are safe, and where they live for a year, the mother feeding them and looking after them until they are able to fend for themselves.

The little alligators that are taken north by tourists are captured in these wells, the mother objecting, but too timid to put up much of a fight.

The boys of southern Florida abound with all sorts of fish and reptiles and they are a very interesting study. The average tide in these inland waters, supplied by passes coming in from the gulf, twenty miles away, is from 18 to 24 inches.

It flows back in the streams and bays bringing with it a great variety of salt water inhabitants which feed on the bars and shoals. The fisherman, whether with hook and line or net, is never surprised at anything which comes to the surface.

Something like a snag strikes his hook, and after a good deal of work he reels up side of the boat a hideous looking animal, neither fish nor reptile, and discovers that he has a stinger-ray.

It is smooth-skinned, broader than it is long, and weighs a dozen pounds or more. The tail is like a piece of whalebone, some two feet long and about the size of a rat's tail. Near the end is a stinger, three or four inches long, with barbs extending forward, and evidently made for business, for he strikes with it viciously, and when the barbs enter the flesh, they have to be cut out, as they are like a shark's tooth, slanting the wrong way for comfort.

The stinger-ray, the whipper-ray and the clamcracker, all belong to the same family. The latter have jaws like a vise, and are very destructive to oyster beds. The whipper-ray grows to immense size. One was captured recently with a harpoon, after a half day's fight, that measured twenty feet across.

The ray family is only one of the curios of these waters; for the shark and the sawfish are here in great numbers, while the jewfish, the rovalio and the drum-fish, help to make life interesting to the tarpon fishermen.

Speaking of sharks, suggests an incident which happened last week near one of the passes among the islands near Sanibel. A couple of fishermen were out in a boat setting their net. A launch was passing near, at the time, and the passengers were intently watching a shark in pursuit of a tarpon.

The fish would jump into the air six or eight feet, while the shark came tearing through the water after him. They were headed straight for the little boat, but were not noticed by the fishermen until the tarpon, in a wild leap, landed across the boat and crushed it. The shark was on them, in a second, and mistaking one of the men for the fish closed his jaws on him, biting him half in two. The other man was picked up by the launch, and the remains of his comrade were pulled up in the net horribly mutilated.

But this article was not intended for a fish story, although it has most of the symptoms. These monsters of the southern waters, as well as a host of smaller fish, are not good for food. They live on each other and are as ravenous as birds of prey. Just why they were created, and why they continue to exist and multiply, is one of the unsolved problems.

The bone deposits represent the accumulation of so many hundred centuries, that the story of creation reads like a fable, and the great phosphate beds, where thousands of tons of this deposit is mined and prepared for market, represents the only use that man has yet discovered for the population of the ocean's great reservoir.

The alligator basks in the sun on the mud bank of a saw grass island. He represents a species of animal life of the lowest organism, and yet nature has provided for his wants, and he lives out allotted time unless destroyed by man, his only enemy.

This world of life, so largely out of sight, is a busy, active world, and from the little school of minnows that dart around the shore, to the bulky porpoise that rolls and blows as he comes to the surface, there are no drones nor laggards. They have no regard for time, and the eight-hour day and equal division of property, fail to disturb or annoy. They are so busily engaged in picking up a living, that their time is their methods and habits, the thought is impressed that they are a care-free and contented population.

The animals called men and women are of a different organism and they are supposed to represent the highest type of creation. The kingdom they occupy is parceled out in lots and quarter sections, and decorated with title deeds and mortgages. The body they inhabit is equipped with a mind and soul. They possess the ability to think and to feel, and yet, in some respects they resemble the lowest order of animal life.

There are species of human sharks that prey upon humanity, and the stinger-rays of society that are more dangerous than the reptiles of the deep.

The tongue of slander belongs to this higher organism, and the spirit of unrest is a part of the equipment. The question of making an honest living by honest toil, is too often lost in the desire to tear down and destroy.

In the kingdom of the deep the same methods prevail century in and out. When this realm was finished it was pronounced "good" and its denizens are still satisfied.

The kingdom of humanity is the restless changing kingdom, and never more restless than today. It is well to stop and think occasionally, for the mad pace at which the nation is traveling is abnormal, and cannot long continue. The realm which we occupy for a lifetime, is subject to seasons of prosperity and depression. They follow each other with as much certainty as the night follows the day.

The former has prevailed so long that we are prone to ignore the latter, and yet we are dangerously near the edge.

The spirit of envy is rife in the land and unconsciously as a people we have come to covet possessions. For the lack of a better term we call it "reform," but the outcome means disaster.

Wall street and the stock market may not interest us, but they are a part of our national life, and an important part. The panic of a day may mean months of depression, reaching out to every nook and corner. It is time to call a halt among many lines, and like the fishes of the sea, be content with our surroundings.

ARSON SUSPECTED BY EVANSVILLE MAN

Col. George Hall Released Today Pending Examination.

John Dillree, Thomas Fineran, and Lyle Wells, three youths residing in the town of Magnolia, were brought into municipal court this morning to answer to a charge of arson preferred by "Col." George Hall, the veteran circus man. Their examination was set for Saturday morning next at ten o'clock and pending the same, they were released without bonds in the custody of the sheriff.

A tobacco shed on "Col." Hall's farm, four miles from Evansville, was destroyed by fire a fortnight ago at an alleged loss of $3,500. The owner is convinced that the blaze was of incendiary origin and claims to have made investigations which warrant him in accusing the three boys and another lad named Hess.

The court was not as well satisfied with Mr. Hall's evidence, and was very reluctant about issuing the warrants, refusing to do so yesterday until the complainant had made a trip to Beloit and conferred with District Attorney Fisher.

The three boys were arrested and brought here last evening. They belong to prominent and highly respected families and it is found that the charges are baseless the parents will probably make it hot for the individuals who have been instrumental in having the charges pressed against them.

THAW TRIAL STOPS UNTIL WEDNESDAY

JUSTICE WILL DECIDE ABOUT LUNACY COMMISSION.

GIVES JEROME MORE TIME

Prosecuting Attorney Denies Charging Hartridge With Unprofessional Conduct—Women of Thaw's Family in Court.

New York, March 23.—The district attorney's office Friday night made public several letters supposedly written by Harry K. Thaw and to which District Attorney Jerome has referred in court and had marked as state exhibits. These are expected to figure in the hearing of the lunacy commission if Justice Fitzgerald decides to appoint one.

The letters have to do chiefly with matters personal to Thaw and are of no special interest except as they may have a possible bearing on the state of mind of Stanford White's slayer.

The status of the case is this: Affidavits have been handed in by the prosecution to show that Thaw is a paranoiac and although legally responsible when he killed Stanford White, is now in such a state of mental incapacity as to be unable to consult intelligently with his counsel and hence should not be on trial for his life. The defense is now preparing its affidavits to the contrary and the matter will come before the court on Tuesday.

Meanwhile the jury is excused until Wednesday, when the judge may determine whether a commission in lunacy shall be appointed.

Counsel Make Statements.

Most of Friday's proceedings were in the nature of explanations by counsel on the question of personal privilege raised by District Attorney Jerome's conditional threat of calling counsel of record for the defense to account before the appellate division for unprofessional conduct, should it appear that he had knowledge of his client's alleged mental incompetency.

Speaking to the tension under which he had been working and denied any intent to charge Mr. Hartridge, the counsel of record, with unprofessional conduct.

Thaw's Family All There.

For the first time since the jury box was closed all the members of Thaw's family were awaiting him in the court room Friday when the proceedings opened. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, his wife, sat between Mrs. Thaw and the courtess of Yarmouth, while Mrs. Carnegie, a sister, sat in the next row with Josiah Thaw. On coming in Harry Thaw smiled and bowed to his wife and then to the others of the party.

The jury, which had filed in at 11 o'clock, was instructed by the judge to return on Wednesday, and left. It was arranged between Mr. Jerome and Mr. Hartridge that the defense's affidavits should be in the hands of the district attorney by two o'clock Saturday afternoon. It was agreed that Mr. Jerome should be permitted to file additional matter on Monday.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 23.—An incendiary fire early Friday morning destroyed the city hall, fire station and city electric light plant, causing a loss of $50,000. The fire spread so rapidly that the firemen asleep in the upper portion of the structure had barely time to escape.

A. C. Biles Convicted of Murder.

St. Louis, March 23.—Arthur C. Biles, son of Robert Biles, of Kansas City, was convicted in the circuit court Friday of first degree murder for the death of Robert Harvey, of Osage City, Mo. Biles, it is alleged, drugged and robbed Harvey, the drug causing his death.

Dr. PRICE'S Baking Powder?

or unwholesome food made with an alum baking powder?

It is worth your while to inquire.

Wanted to Be Shown.

In the early 90's Uncle Moses Fowler of Lyme, Conn., was elected a member of the legislature in that state. At that time great effort was being made to defeat pool selling at the Charter Oak Park races, and no member of that legislature was more zealous to faithfully serve his constituents than "Uncle Moses."

Having always lived in a farming community, his knowledge of gambling methods was very limited.

In pursuit of information on pool selling he stopped one day in the Chaffee House at Middletown, and, according to the proprietor, said:

"Mr. Chaffee, I hear you have a pool table here in your hotel. Now, there is so much said up at Hartford about the evils of this pool business that I would like to see how the game is played."

Faint-Hearted Modern Lovers.

The average modern young man cares only for "game rabbit coursing." He labors under some new-fangled delusion that it is undignified to woo unless you're more than half sure of winning. Naturally the sport is dull both to pursuer and pursued. The dainty art of courtship is nearly forgotten.—Woman at Home.

Curative Effect of Salt.

The curative effects of salt have never been shown as they should be. Sore and inflamed eyes are relieved by bathing with salt water. Sore throat yields to a gargle of the same. Consumption can be cured by the persistent use of half a teaspoonful of salt in a glass of water taken just before going to bed.

"Same Old Story"

A patient recently consulted Dr. Richards about needed family work. Had been paying $10 each for gold crowns and was tired of the burden. Said had been doing so for social acquaintance and friendship sake, but couldn't see the use any more of paying twice as much for work as was necessary.

This is the way people look at it. When they think. And the time most people think is when the bill is presented for payment. You may have the very best dental work obtainable in the city for $5 a tooth and you may pay $10 for the very same if you go blindly along. It's all in

PROFESSORS LOST BASKETBALL GAME TO '07 STUDENTS

Interesting Athletic Carnival Held at High School Last Evening—Janesville Girls Defeated Delavan Team.

Three hundred people crowded in the galleries of the high school gymnasium last evening and witnessed one of the most interesting athletic carnivals ever held in the city. There was an interclass relay race, a basketball game between the girls' teams of the Delavan and Janesville high schools, a game between the faculty and senior teams, a pick-a-back and a three-legged race. The program furnished a pleasing, entertaining and accomplished its purpose—raised the debt of the athletic association. The expense of sending the relay team to Madison a week ago and of bringing the Delavan girls here was covered and some money now remains in the treasury.

The faculty-senior basketball game resulted in a victory for the students by a score of 14 and 11. At the end of the first-half the teachers had scored 6 against the 5 of their opponents, but lost their advantage in the last few minutes of play. The line-up follows:

Faculty: D. Manross, c. Seniors: F. Nuzum, c. E. T. Stively, f. Cassidy, f. W. Vlyman, f. Jensen, f. T. J. Hauberson, g. K. Jeffris, g. H. C. Buell, g. Tjernin.

In the girls' game Janesville won by a score of 11 to 5. The Delavan young ladies played hard, but fouled the home players frequently and it was on free throws that nearly the entire score of the locals was made by Eloise Fitchell. For Janesville Miss Fitchell played center, Louis Bonard and Marie Jones forwards and Mae Cranger and Irma Zickler guards.

Honors in the relay race were awarded the sophomores. The juniors defeated the freshmen, the sophomores won from the juniors and in the final the juniors lost on a foul. The teams consisted of the following: Sophomore—Fred Stewart, Clarence Horkey, Bert Baker, Elbridge Fitchell, Junior—Leo Aspinwall, Vincent Koch, John Boyd, Roger Cunningham; senior—Fred Jensen, Frank Nuzum, Kenneth Jeffris, Will Tjernin; freshman—William Hyde, Victor Reed, Emmett Murphy, Leslie Pire.

Only two classes entered teams in the three-legged race. The sophomores, Charles Wright and Bert Baker defeated the freshmen, William Hyde and Emmett Murphy. The pick-a-back, a human burden race was won by two seniors, Fred Jensen and Frank Nuzum, and second place was taken by two sophomores, Baker and Wright.

LUMBER CO. PLANS MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Successors to Janesville Lumber Co. Have Placed Local Interests in Hands of A. O. Anderson.

The lumber yards and business of the Janesville Lumber Co., which were recently purchased by the Brittingham & Hixon Lumber Co., of Madison, have been placed in charge of A. O. Anderson, who arrived a few days ago and will become local manager.

It is expected in the near future that new sheds and warehouses will be erected and already the various stock lines of lumber are being increased and the public will be served promptly and to the very best advantage. The immense business of the Brittingham & Hixon Company enables them to carry the most complete stock of everything pertaining to the lumber trade, and a wholesale, as well as retail business, will be carried on. Carload orders and orders for large quantities of material can be cared for as easily as the smaller orders. In addition to the regular lines of lumber there will be in stock constantly a full supply of sawed lumber, cement, sand, plaster, adamant, lime, brick, tile, flanges, etc., etc. Those contemplating building or repair work this spring will do well to look over the stock of this new concern and a special invitation is extended to the public to call and inspect the yards.

FORTY TON GANG PUNCH RECEIVED BY MACHINE CO.

Largest Machine Ever Seen in Janesville and One of the Biggest of Its Kind in United States.

One of the largest punches in the United States and the biggest machine ever seen in Janesville was received by the Janesville Machine company today and the work of unloading and installing it began this afternoon. The machine weighs forty tons, is ten feet high and seventeen feet in length.

This mechanical mammoth, which is technically termed a multiple punch, and is commonly known as a gang punch, is ten feet long between housings; that is, it will hold a bar ten feet in length, or two or more bars aggregating ten feet. It will exert 1,000,000 pounds or in other words, punch 27 square inches through 40-carbon steel. The average person, unversed in technical terms would probably comprehend the enormous strength of the machine if it were said that it can punch twenty-two 2-inch holes through a half-inch bar of 40-carbon steel. It is operated by the machine is able to haul the bars as rapidly as the machine punches, the described operation can be repeated seventeen times a minute. One man and a helper can operate the machine and carry moneypower is needed.

The punch comes from the shops of Long & Allstatter company of Hamilton, O., and is the next largest in the west. At their Chicago plant the International Harvester company has a sixty-ton machine, which will punch sixteen-foot bars. The American Car and Foundry company has four 50-ton machines and has ordered two more of the same size from the Long & Allstatter people.

LIVERPOOL MINE HAS STRUCK LARGE CAVE

Local Stockholders Received Word of Wonderful Discovery of Galena Deposits.

Janesville people who hold stock in the Liverpool mine report that within the past few days a wonderful discovery of a cave containing large lead deposits has been made on their property. Among the local stockholders are Dr. E. B. Parnsworth, Charles Schwartz, Cove Van Kirk, J. M. Bostwick, S. B. Lewis, George S. Parker and W. F. Palmer. A Mineral Point paper in printing the news of the discovery says:

"A great find of lead ore was made on Tuesday in the Liverpool mine in this city. It is in the lower, or big pipe-cave opening, at a depth of about one hundred feet from the surface, and thirty feet below the glass rock. The mine is on land formerly owned by the old Mineral Point mining company; and from this mine millions of pounds of lead ore were taken in an earlier day. The present discovery is a truly marvelous one, being a great opening, or cave, about twenty-five feet high, thirty feet wide and more than two hundred feet long, the covering and sides of which are overhanging with lead ore. It is regarded by experienced miners to be one of the most important discoveries ever made in this mining region."

HE WORKED HIS "SCIENCE."

New Method Employed by Satisfied and Comfortable Husband.

It is the wife who is the head of the house, and it was she who decided upon the flat—and repented immediately afterward. The building was a new one, scarcely finished, and after the parlor ceiling had fallen twice and the repair man had botched a dozen small jobs she decided to move again.

In this she met the lively opposition of the family. They were all content with their rooms and the children begged for a delay. The husband took the matter with calmness and did not enter into the argument after expressing his entire contentment with the present conditions.

The wife worried and went flat hunting, but at last she announced that she had come to the conclusion that they would remain. The husband looked up placidly from his coffee cup. "I knew that several weeks ago," he announced.

"But I only decided this morning," she retorted in surprise.

He smiled pityingly. "Down at the church," he explained, "we have been giving you absent treatment for five weeks. After this you need not say that there is nothing in science."

Then he dodged the sugar bowl.

NOT THE ORDINARY KIND.

Their Love Was To Be Tender and Romantic Ever, But Alas!

"George, dear," she said, a night or two before the wedding, "do you think it possible that our love and our married life can become the commonplace, coldly practical love and life of the married people we see around us? Oh, George, my heart would break if I thought so."

"But it will not be so," said George, passionately. "We love each other too tenderly, too fondly for that. Our love is not of the ordinary kind, my darling, and our lives will not be so. Ah, no, no, my angel; that can never be."

"And the other day she said, 'I say, George, how would you like pork for dinner with apple sauce? You would? All right, then; and don't you forget that feeding bottle for the baby, or I'll send you back after it, and mind that you don't keep your dinner waiting.' And he, with falling off of the passion of ten years ago, replied: 'All right, Lou; and I wish you'd sew a button on the back part of those striped trousers of mine; you'll find them hanging over a chair in our room. Don't have the pork as dry as last time, and you watch the baby's cold. That watering of the eyes looks like measles to me. There's my bus. Good-by.'"

EXPLAINED TO THE EMPRESS.

Kaiser Apologized For Length of Absence From Her.

A characteristic story may be related of Emperor Wilhelm II.'s peculiarities. One morning he made a call on Count Szeegyen, then Austrian ambassador at Berlin. The count was dawdling over his breakfast when his valet announced, "His majesty the emperor."

As the latter entered and took a chair, he said: "I have come for a glass of beer and a chat, as I have not seen you for so long. I will take a cigarette. And how is your wife?" At that moment the baroness entered the room, and the trio held a pleasant converse for some time. Suddenly the Kaiser looked at his watch and jumped to his feet. "Good gracious! Have we talked so long? I must use your telephone at once to bid the empress good bye, as I haven't time to return to the palace before starting for the maneuvers. I must, however, excuse myself to my wife." Thereupon the emperor rang up the empress to whom he spoke as follows: "Don't be angry. I have chatted so long with Szeegyen that I must drive to the station from here, so I cannot give you my parting kiss. I am very sorry."

TEACHES DOGS A LESSON.

Animals on One Letter Carrier's Route Never Attack Him Twice.

"No one comes in contact with all sorts of dogs more than the letter carrier," said the man in gray as the interviewer trudged along beside him. "Take it outside the business districts and every other family has a dog. Many of them I pay no attention to, but about one out of five aches to get his teeth into my legs at first sight. It is a part of my duty to teach such curs a life-long lesson."

"Do you kick them?" was asked. "That would be foolish. I carry here in my side pocket about a quarter of a pound of dry fine cut tobacco. You see it is almost as fine as snuff. The dog that means to bite you won't come charging down with a roar. He sneaks up behind and gives a jump in. I am ready for it. Without seeming to be watching, I know where he is, and at the right moment he gets the tobacco dust in his eyes. Then there is a circus. That dog goes through such a performance as you never witnessed, and his owner, man or woman, indulges in all sorts of threats. I deliver the mail and say nothing and go on. The dog's eyes are sore for a fortnight, and if he afterward meets me on the street he will drop his tail and make a bolt for home. It's a lesson he never forgets, and I believe it increases his owner's respect for Uncle Sam's uniform."
